Your Investment Objectives Setting, Portfolio Risk Rating and Leverage FactorInvestment Objectives Setting

Investment Objectives	<ul style="list-style-type: none">You want to achieve potential growth by investing in medium risk-rated products and are comfortable with accepting the risk that the value of the investment could decline from time to time. You are willing to risk part of your principal in order to achieve this. You may also gear up your investment by utilizing various financial instruments including loan and margin trading. You would be prepared to have some exposure to high risk-rated products to achieve your investment goal.
Investment Horizon	Medium Term - Between 1 and 3 years
Investment Profile	Balanced <ul style="list-style-type: none">Your goal is to achieve investment returns, either through income or capital appreciation, which are considerably higher than short term deposit rates.You are willing to invest in higher risk products which may have higher volatility and lower liquidity and where there is a possibility of losing part of the principal amount invested.

Portfolio Risk Rating and Leverage Factor SummaryPortfolio Risk Rating

Current Portfolio Risk Rating	0.0
Portfolio Risk Rating Threshold for your Investment Profile	4.0

Leverage Factor

Current Leverage Factor	1.0
Leverage Factor Threshold for your Investment Profile	3.0 *

*Important note for clients with Balanced investment profile:

Portfolio Risk Rating (PR) and Leverage Factor (LF) are measured separately. A client with a Balanced investment profile may choose to leverage his investments up to 3.0 times ($LF \leq 3.0$), provided that his Portfolio Risk Rating does not exceed 3.0 ($PR \leq 3.0$). For clients with $PR > 3.0$, use of leverage may potentially increase their overall portfolio risk (after taking into account leverage) to beyond 4.0, being the risk threshold applicable for an investor with a Balanced investment profile.

About Performance Summary

Performance is the Money-Weighted Rate of Return calculated according to modified Dietz method.

Derivatives are excluded from the performance computation.

Performance is computed based on the event date/ex-date for corporate actions.

Backdated transactions including corporate actions may influence the performance of previous periods.

DBS Treasures Private Client Investment Suitability Framework

Under our investment suitability framework, your overall Portfolio Risk Rating will be compared against your investment profile based on your responses in the Investment Objectives Setting Questionnaire. Your overall Portfolio Risk Rating is calculated based on the risk rating of each product, its investment amount and its allocation of your overall portfolio taken on a volatilities weighted average basis. Individually, there could be some products in your portfolio with risk ratings which may exceed the threshold for your investment profile. However, your overall Portfolio Risk Rating should not exceed your investment profile. Higher investment amount and allocation of your portfolio to products with higher risk ratings will increase your Portfolio Risk Rating, and may result in your investment risk exceeding your investment profile. Likewise, lower investment amount and allocation of your portfolio to products with higher risk ratings will reduce your Portfolio Risk Rating.

Additional Disclosure for accounts booked in Hong Kong or managed by a Relationship Manager in Hong Kong

For the avoidance of doubt, the assessment of investment risk on a portfolio basis as described herein does not involve the bank adopting a portfolio-based approach in assessing suitability for private banking customers as set out by the relevant laws and regulations in Hong Kong. The assessment of investment risk on a portfolio basis refers solely to the bank calculating your exposure to products with different risk ratings taking into account the investment amount and individual product risk ratings. This is to allow you to invest in a mix of lower and higher risk rated products whilst maintaining a Portfolio Risk Rating which is appropriate given your Investment Profile. This is distinct from the adoption of a portfolio-based approach to assessing suitability, which may take place only where, among other things, there is an investment mandate for a portfolio agreed at the outset between you and the bank.

Important information on Leverage

Leverage amplifies the risks in your portfolio in terms of both potential gains as well as potential losses would increase in proportion to the degree of leverage employed. By taking on leverage, you accept that you may lose a significant part, or all, of your capital, and are prepared to make good any losses over and above the principal you invest in certain cases.

Leverage Factor is calculated based on the following:
Gross Assets/Net Assets

Gross Assets comprise cash, investments, notional amount of outstanding derivative transactions (without consideration of netting effect of any offsetting foreign exchange transactions) and mark-to-market gains or losses from outstanding derivative transactions.

Net Assets comprise cash, investments, mark-to-market gains or losses from outstanding derivative transactions minus loans.

Real property, universal life insurance policies and loans secured by such assets are excluded from the computation of Gross Assets and Net Assets.

Where loans are secured by assets held in a separate account or portfolio, the Leverage Factor may not take into account the full value of such other assets.

Leverage Factor accounts for both implicit leverage (e.g. derivatives on margins) and explicit leverage (e.g. loans). The Leverage Factor threshold should not be construed as a recommendation as to leverage levels. It serves as a reminder to clients not to take excessive leverage beyond the specified threshold applicable to their investment profiles. As leverage may result in the leveraged return volatilities increasing beyond the underlying asset volatilities (unleveraged return volatilities), clients should assess and understand the risks of leverage before incorporating any form of leverage in their portfolios.

The Portfolio Risk Rating and Leverage Factor is in respect to your portfolio. If you maintain any other account(s) or portfolio(s) with the Bank, the Portfolio Risk Rating and Leverage Factor for each such account or portfolio will be calculated separately.
